

LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION

September, 2025

At the Viljem Julijan Association for Children with Rare Diseases from Slovenia, we have had the privilege of closely collaborating for many years with Dr. Nadja Jarc in the field of professional support for children with rare diseases and their families. Throughout all these years, she has always been ready to selflessly and entirely pro bono assist our youngest patients and their parents with her exceptional professional recommendations and consultations. Her help and support have been decisive in numerous cases when parents, facing the serious health conditions of their children, sought clear guidance and a trustworthy medical opinion.

In practice, this means that Dr. Jarc has always been willing to provide her expert opinion, which has enabled families to better understand the illness, facilitated access to further medical care, and instilled the much-needed confidence that they are not alone on their journey. Her work has often been crucial for timely and accurate decisions regarding the further treatment of children with rare diseases.

She is distinguished by her outstanding medical expertise, unwavering dedication, compassion, and the ability to communicate even the most complex professional matters in a clear, comprehensible, and empathetic way. For our association, the cooperation with Dr. Nadja Jarc is invaluable. We can say with absolute certainty that she is a doctor whom patients and their families can trust, as she always acts sincerely, responsibly, and for the good of people.

We are confident that she will continue her independent professional path with the same dedication and excellence that have distinguished her for many years. Dr. Jarc is an exceptional example of a doctor who, through her knowledge and compassion, truly changes people's lives.
